

Process for preparing polyether polyols

A b s t r a c t

The present invention relates to a process for solvent-free preparation of polyether polyols with blockwise polyether chain structure, based on starter compounds solid at room temperature.

Figure: None