(54) Title: BUSINESS PROCESS POLICY OBJECT

(57) Abstract: A method for implementing business process policy logic in an object is provided. The method provides a computer executable methodology that includes modeling business logic, creating instances of modeling objects, messaging the instances, and selectively performing business logic. A system for automatically performing business process policy logic in an object is provided. The system includes business process policy objects and a business manager that selectively interacts with business process policy objects. The methods and systems are stored, in one example, on computer readable media.
