

ABSTRACT

A concrete finishing device includes: a crawler frame that has a belt provided on a frame; a trowel that is coupled to the frame and that finishes a concrete surface with a blade unit that rotates while in contact with the concrete surface; an electrical equipment frame that is mounted to the frame and that supplies electrical power to the crawler frame and the trowel; a trowel coupling unit that removably couples the trowel to the frame; and an electrical equipment frame coupling unit that removably couples the electrical equipment frame to the frame.

Figure 1