

DIE ASSEMBLY

Abstract

Extrusion die comprising a fixed solid body in which there are at least one inlet channel for a plasticized, especially edible, mass of material and a housing containing a rotating barrel in which there are at least one outlet channel and a distribution chamber having rotational symmetry communicating upstream with said inlet channel and downstream with said outlet channel, an outer surface of said barrel interacting via an axial and radial bearing with a corresponding surface of said housing.

Figure 1

200 311 111

1-2231029