

METHOD OF COPPER CONCENTRATE LEACHING AND SULFATION

- 5 The application provides a hydrometallurgical method of treating metal-containing sulphide ores and concentrate for recovering copper from sulfide ores containing copper and iron, which comprises reacting the sulfide ore with sulfur dioxide gas. The method is also known as a process of copper concentrate leaching and sulfation.

10 [Fig. 1]