SYSTEMS AND METHODS FOR IDENTITY VALIDATION AND VERIFICATION

ABSRACT

According to some embodiments, a system and a method of transmitting identity verification information to a merchant include receiving an account identifier from a user in response to the user interacting with a merchant. The user is authenticated based on the account identifier and identity verification information is transmitted to the merchant.

Figure 2