

Abstract

Title: Method for treating flue gas from combustion units

The invention relates to the reduction of the acid gas concentration in the flue gas 5 of combustion units that is produced in waste incinerators, by means of a powder composition comprising an alkaline earth metal salt and an ammonium salt.

Figure for abstract: Figure 1