ABSTRACT

A METHOD AND A SYSTEM FOR CONTROLLING DISCOMFORT LEVEL

Present invention relates to a method of controlling the discomfort level experienced by a subject. The method comprises receiving a signal from the subject to initiate comfort relief, determining vital sign data of the subject, determining whether the vital sign data fulfils a predetermined criterion, and performing an infusion regime of infusing a comfort relief drug into the subject based on whether the vital sign data fulfils the predetermined criterion.

FIGURE 2