(54) Title: TRANSMISSION MANAGEMENT SYSTEM, TRANSMISSION SYSTEM, AND TRANSMISSION MANAGEMENT SYSTEM PROGRAM

(57) Abstract: A management system 50 receives, when a state of a terminal 10 is changed based on control by another management system, state information after change that indicates the state after the change from the another management system. Consequently, there is an effect that, even if control associated with communication is executed by the another management system, the management system 50 can control the state of the terminal 10 based on the received state information after change.
