(54) Title: METHODS OF MEASURING CARFILZOMIB

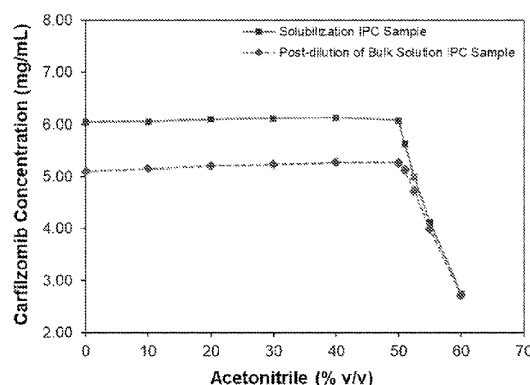

Figure 1

(57) Abstract: Provided herein are improved methods for measuring the concentration of carfilzomib in a sample. The method comprises the steps of diluting the sample with a diluent comprising water and less than 50% by volume acetonitrile to form an analytical sample; and subjecting the analytical sample to high performance liquid chromatography (HPLC) to determine the carfilzomib concentration in the sample.
