ABSTRACT

A method for determining a default beam includes: receiving first downlink control information (DCI) carried on a first physical downlink control channel (PDCCH); and determining that a transmission beam is unable to be determined according to the first DCI, and determining a default beam according to one or more transmission configuration indication (TCI) states corresponding to a second PDCCH.

FIG.1