TESTING INTEGRATED CIRCUITS

Abstract

The specification describes a technique for burn-in electrical testing of IC dies prior to wire bonding the dies to the next interconnection level. The dies are provided with a test solder bump array interconnected to the IC contact pads of the dies. The Known Good Dies (KGD) can then be wire bonded, or alternatively flip-chip solder bump bonded, to the next interconnect level.