88. An access point as claimed in any one of claims 78 to 87, wherein the access point is arranged to communicate with a remotely located access point server arranged to store settings for the access point, and to receive settings for the access point from the access point server.

89. An access point as claimed in any one of claims ~~89 to 99~~78 to 88, wherein the filter is a filter application that executes on the access point.