PYRIDOPYRAZINE DERIVATIVES AND USE THEREOF AS MODULATORS OF THE SIGNAL TRANSDUCTION PATHS

Abstract

The invention relates to novel pyridopyrazine compounds which are suited for the treatment or prevention of physiological and/or pathophysiological conditions in mammals, especially humans, transmitted and/or modulated by signal transduction paths and/or enzymes.

No Suitable Figure