LOGISTICS MANAGING METHOD AND ELECTRONIC APPARATUS PERFORMING SAME

ABSTRACT

A logistics managing method according to example embodiments may include identifying at least one tote included in a tote set, identifying a station set corresponding to the tote set among at least one station set based on an attribute of an item included in the at least one tote, and determining one of the at least one station included in the station set to be a destination of the at least one tote. Other various embodiments are also possible.

Figure 3