Abstract

The invention relates to magnetic, spherical PVAL particles produced through suspension of a polymer phase containing magnetic colloids in a vegetable oil phase containing a special emulsifier mixture. Particles with a particle size of 1-8 µm are obtained which can chemically bind ligands. The carriers can be used to isolate and detect biomolecules, cells, antibodies and nucleic acids.