Methods and compositions for use in cellular therapies

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides methods for the intralymphatic administration of cellular therapies. Further aspects of the invention provide compositions, kits and uses thereof related to such methods.

Figure 1 accompanies the abstract.