

EMERGENCY STOP DEVICE WITH ATTACHED HAND BRAKE SYSTEMABSTRACT

Disclosed is an emergency stop device with an attached hand brake system. The emergency stop device with the attached hand brake system comprises: brake units which are equipped on both sides of a car and control the movements of the car by selectively interfering with guide rails; an operation unit which is connected with the brake units and manually grants braking power to the braking units; and an interlocking unit which interlocks the brake units.

(Figure 2)