

METHOD FOR PERFORMING MECHANICAL, CHEMICAL AND/OR THERMAL PROCESSES

ABSTRACT

In the method for performing mechanical, chemical and/or thermal processes in a reactant and/or product in a housing that has at least one feed point, at least one catalyst is mixed into the reactant, as a result of which the product reacts up to a desired degree of conversion. In this process, the reactant is mixed with the catalyst before being introduced into the housing.