ABSTRACT

This invention is to provide a novel taxol derivative useful as an antitumor compound having respective substituent groups, represented by the following formula which can be orally administered.

162162

G00002