A NOVEL METHOD TO MAKE CORNER CROSS-GRID STRUCTURES IN COPPER METALLIZATION

ABSTRACT

A new method to prevent cracking at the corners of a semiconductor die during dicing is described. Dummy metal structures are fabricated at the corners of the die to prevent cracking. The design for the dummy metal structures can be generated automatically by a computer program..

Fig. 8