

ABSTRACT

MASSAGER

5 There is provided a massager capable of providing novel massage effects. The massager (1) comprises: the first massaging member (5) having the first massaging element (6) at its front end; the second massaging member (13) having the second massaging element (14) at its front end; and the massaging mechanism (4) for producing massage action by rocking the first massaging member (5) and the second 10 massaging member (13). The massaging mechanism (4) drives the first massaging element (6) so that it moves close to and away from the second massaging element (14).
