

ABSTRACT

5 A method for treating myopia and an application in preparation of a medicament are provided, where the volume of choroidal blood flow is increased by expanding the choroid via a drug or a surgical method, so as to achieve treatment of the myopia caused by scleral hypoxia, which provides a new idea and method for treating myopia.

[FIG. 1]