

ABSTRACT

INFORMATION ACQUISITION PROGRAM, INFORMATION ACQUISITION METHOD, AND INFORMATION ACQUISITION DEVICE

5 Provided are an information acquisition program, an information acquisition method, and an information acquisition device that can supplement information to be described in a document. The information acquisition program causes a computer (100) to execute processing (133) of acquiring a specific piece of data using information for 10 specifying a position of the specific piece of data in a document of a certain site by referring to a storage unit (121, 122) that stores therein information for specifying the position of the specific piece of data in the document of the certain site and information for specifying a 15 position of another piece of data having a predetermined relation to the specific piece of data in the document.
The information acquisition program also causes the computer (100) to execute processing (134) of acquiring the other piece of data using the position of the other piece 20 of data related to the specific piece of data in the document by referring to the storage unit (121, 122), and acquiring data having a predetermined relation to the other piece of data using the acquired other piece of data.

FIG. 1