ABSTRACT

A combination of hyaluronic acid or a salt thereof and flavin adenine dinucleotide or a salt thereof can be an inhibitor for corneal epithelial cell death induced by ultraviolet irradiation and/or dryness because it significantly inhibits the decline of the number of living cells in corneal epithelial cells induced by ultraviolet irradiation or dryness.