

Abstract

The invention relates to a method for the electrochemical preparation of alkanedicarboxylic acids by ring-opening oxidation by means of a doped Ni(O)OH
5 foam electrode in aqueous alkaline solution.

Fig 1