(54) Title: INFORMATION DETECTION METHOD, APPARATUS AND DEVICE

FIG. 1

(57) Abstract: The embodiments of the present specification disclose an information detection method, an information detection apparatus, and an information detection device. The method comprises: determining key point information in a target identification from a target image based on a preset deep learning algorithm; obtaining an image of the target identification from the target image according to the key point information; and determining information of a preset field from the image of the target identification according to the image of the target identification and a preset identification template matching the target identification.
