

ABSTRACT

The present disclosure relates to a conductive ink functional material and a preparation method thereof. The conductive ink functional material is a surface-functionalized metal nanoparticle, and the surface of the metal nanoparticle is bonded to a molecule containing an electronic medium by a covalent bond. The present disclosure also relates to a functionalized conductive ink and a preparation method thereof. The ink is prepared from the conductive ink functional material.