

Abstract

The present invention provides a novel endo- β -N-acetylglucosaminidase that is isolated from a fungus belonging to the genus Rhizomucor and is active under high-temperature conditions; various mutant enzymes thereof; genes encoding the enzymes; a recombinant plasmid; a transformant transformed with the plasmid; and the like.