

Abstract

Methods and system for image evaluation by processing an image to generate one or more image evaluation metrics by executing respective one or more condensed image processing models, processing the one or more evaluation metrics to determine a degree of clarity of the artefact of interest in the first image, when the degree of clarity is below a predefined threshold, generate a feedback message based on a plurality of image evaluation metrics; and causing presentation of the feedback message on a display.

Figure 9