

MOBILE PLATFORM TRACKING IN WIRELESS NETWORKS

ABSTRACT

A mobile station in a wireless network provides a presence indication when in a power saving state. The presence indication is sent periodically, and the period is dependent on whether the mobile station is stationary or in motion. The period may also be dependent on an asset protection level of the mobile station.

Fig. 1