AGENT FOR ALLEVIATING SIDE EFFECTS IN CANCER CHEMOTHERAPY

Abstract

The purpose of the present invention is to provide an agent for alleviating side effects in cancer chemotherapy, said agent being capable of alleviating various side effects in cancer chemotherapy and thus increasing the treatment completion rate of the cancer chemotherapy. An agent for alleviating side effects in cancer chemotherapy, said agent comprising a combination of: (A) cystine or a derivative thereof; with (B) theanine.

[No Suitable Figure]