

ABSTRACT

A package includes a base material including a paper layer, a film that covers contents placed on the base material, and an easy-peel structure that joins the base material and the film so that the contents are sealed.

FIG. 6