

ABSTRACT

PUNCTAL PLUGS

Punctal plugs for delivering therapeutic agents have a body, a portion into which the therapeutic agent is held, a winding about the body, and an enlarged portion or anchor at an end.

Fig. 1