

Abstract

The purpose of the present invention is to provide a flavor material having a flavor similar to dried seafoods, such as dried fish flakes and dried seafood. It has been found that a heat-treated product containing a glutathione-containing yeast extract and a polyunsaturated fatty acid-containing material has a dried seafood-like flavor.