

Abstract

Provided is a processed kale product having a high glucoraphanin content, as well as good taste and flavor and good appearance. A processed kale product manufactured from kale having undergone a blanching treatment as a starting material, the processed kale product having a glucoraphanin content of at least 1 mg per 1 g of kale-derived solids.