
This Sheet Has Been Replaced

ABSTRACT

A corner protecting device formed of two component parts with male/female connection means to allow for slidable interconnection of the parts to thereby provide for ready
5 adaptation and fitting of the device to corners of differing dimensions.