

Authentication of Supplemental Information in Data StreamsAbstract

- 5 Apparatuses and methods for checking a data stream on trustworthiness are described. According to an aspect, the data stream comprises an indication which indicates whether one or more supplemental information messages are to be included into a portion of the data stream, which portion is to be used for performing a trustworthiness check of the data stream.

10

(Figure 1)