

ABSTRACT

An information processing method and apparatus, and a storage medium, the method comprising: on the basis of aggregated archive data, determining a target object (301); acquiring first capture image information of the target object (302); analysing the first capture information to obtain a first analysis result (303); and, on the basis of the first analysis result, determining a first trajectory of the target object (304).

[Figure 3]