RESOURCE MANAGEMENT METHOD AND RELATED APPARATUS

ABSTRACT

Embodiments of this application disclose a cloud resource management method and a related apparatus, to improve resource utilization of a cloud server. The method in embodiments of this application includes: obtaining available resource status information of a cloud server cluster, where the available resource status information includes one or more of the following: available cloud resource capacities and available cloud resource flavors of the cloud server cluster in different future periods; generating cloud service price information based on the available resource status information, where the cloud service price information includes price information of cloud resources of a plurality of flavors; and sending the cloud service price information to user equipment.

(Fig.2)