ABSTRACT

A method of manufacturing a semiconductor device includes forming a test circuit in a cross area of a scribe lane area disposed between chip areas of a substrate. The method also includes forming a first dummy structure on the test circuit, forming a test pad in a line area of the scribe lane area of the substrate, and cutting the substrate along the scribe lane area.

FIG. 2A