

Abstract

The present invention provides a fluorescent diamond containing an MV center emitting fluorescence at a concentration of $1 \times 10^{14}/\text{cm}^3$ or higher, where M represents a metal or metalloid, and V represents a vacancy.