

Abstract

Adjusting device which has a main cylinder (2) and a 5 spring cylinder (3) arranged separately therefrom, wherein, during a pressure drop, the spring force acts hy-draulically on the main cylinder (2). In order to design such an adjusting device more effectively, the effective spring piston area is variable.