ABSTRACT

A method for determining a random access resource configuration includes: in response to a UE triggering a random access process, determining a usage rule for random access resource configurations; and determining a random access resource configuration on the basis of the determined usage rule, and performing random access on the basis of the determined random access resource configuration.

Fig. 1