

METHOD FOR APPARATUS RECORDING AND REPLAYING MESSAGESABSTRACT

An apparatus for recording and replaying a message received from a calling party through a telephone line is disclosed. Messages received from a plurality of calling parties are stored in a memory (13). The messages stored in the memory (13) are replayed for each of calling parties using caller information. The received messages can be continuously replayed for each of calling parties to allow easy understanding of the messages for the same calling party.

Fig.1

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

