

THAWING-HEATING TRAY AND THAWING-HEATING METHOD

ABSTRACT

In order to sufficiently and properly thaw frozen food such as frozen sushi, a thawing-heating tray made of dielectric material is provided with thick portions, of which thickness is greater, disposed in the central region and the peripheral region thereof, respectively. Fixed to this tray is a reflector. The frozen food is placed on the tray and is then thawed by an electronic oven.

(Fig. 1)

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

