WIRELESS COMMUNICATION METHOD AND APPARATUS

ABSTRACT

Provided in embodiments of the present application are a wireless communication method and apparatus, configured to improve flexibility of channel transmission. The method comprises: a terminal apparatus determining, starting from a first time unit and according to a constraint condition, multiple time units configured to transmit a first channel; and the terminal apparatus sending to a network apparatus the first channel on the multiple time units.

(Fig. 2)