

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides a new means for improving the foam quality, especially foam stability, of beer-taste beverages. Specifically, the amount of mugi-derived extract components in beer-taste beverages is adjusted to lie from 0.1 to 2 wt% inclusive.