200404253-7
26 AUG 2004

DIAGNOSTIC TEST

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates generally to a technique of detecting exposure of human and or animal to a dengue virus or equivalent thereof. More particularly, the present invention relates to an analysis of a biological sample taken from an animal or human in order to determine if the subject had been exposed to a dengue virus or equivalent thereof. The present invention further provides medical diagnostic kits for the detection of dengue virus infection or equivalent thereof.

[No Figure is to accompany the publication of the Abstract]

