AN EXERCISE APPARATUS SENSOR SYSTEM

ABSTRACT

A exercise apparatus sensor system (100) is disclosed that is able to count the number of repetitions performed by a user by using a free standing sensor system to determine and compute the number of repetitions performed, measure the amount of weight lifted, check the distance of extensions, calculate calories burnt, and measure intervals between repetitions.

(Figure 1)